

Says

What have we heard them say?
What can we imagine them saying?

Thinks

What are their wants, needs, hopes, and dreams?
What other thoughts might influence their behavior?

I heard him say, is correct.
You heard in the past, but during that past time he was saying it in the present.
I saw him give an envelope to the women.
This is the same construction. You saw him in the past but he was giving it at that present ti

Stable environment with contunued opportunities to enjoy nature and clean air and water.

Compare with, ""I heard that he said he was the new teacher." In this case, you heard in the past, but at that time, he had already said it in the past.

Also it is a handy rule to remember that the tense marker is only applied to one English verb in a verb phrase. Ex. ""Did you said something? "" is incorrect, because the auxiliary verb, do, already took the tense marker to become the past form . did. ""Did you say something?" is the correct form.

Stable economy with continued opportunities for gainful employment, investment for retirement, good working conditions, and sense of fulfillment and financial security.

Stable government with continued opportunities to exercise freedoms and travel safely

The scientists described the ability to judge someone based on observed behaviour - rather than their own interactions with that person - as 'social eavesdropping'.

In the most basic sense, people observe behaviour taking place and then go on to

Psychology had developed a set of lofty theories based around fixed personality traits, but he found that these rarely seemed to coincide with observed behaviour.

Anxiety is often connected with oversimulation from a stressful environment or threat, combined with the perceived inability to deal with that threat. In contrast, anger is often tied to frustration. Often when anxiety is left unacknowledged and unexpressed, it can turn into frustration, which can lead to anger

Fear is the response to a perceived threat, while anxiety involves worry about a threat that has not yet, or may never,

Not achieving my full potential is one of the biggest fears in my life. I know I am a creative person with ideas, aspirations, and skills, but I still fear that I will fail to utilize my skills to achieve my professional goals
